BEATING FATHER TIME TO PUNCH — Salem and neighboring communities in northeastern Ohio revert to Daylight Saving Time (fast time) Sunday morning at 2 a.m., but Cindy Dowd didn't intend to stay up till then to make the time switch. Cindy, a ninth grader at Junior High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dowd of 1095 Overlook Drive, stole a march on Father Time by setting the clock ahead an hour today to conform to the change.

U.S. Tests Fired In Pacific, Nevada

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has fired back-to-back nuclear tests thousands of miles apart—one underground in Nevada, the other a mushrooming burst over the Pacific.

The Pacific shot Friday was the second in the new American series of atmospheric tests. According to the terse Atomic Energy Commission announcement, it was pretty much a repeat of Wednesday's test.

The device, dropped from a plane in the vicinity of Christmas Island shortly after sunrise, brightened the sky over the central Pacific.

The detonation was described as in the intermediate range—having more explosive power than 20,000 tons of TNT but less than 1-million tons. This would make it 5 to 25 times more powerful than the World War II atomic bomb that blasted Hiroshima.

The Nevada test was the 30th underground blast to be reported by the AEC since the series was begun after the Soviet Union broke the test moratorium last fall with some 40 blasts in the atmosphere.

The AEC said the underground shot was a low-yield explosion—less than the force of 20,000 tons of TNT.

It was the first time shots were detonated at widely separated test sites on a single day but not the first time a day's testing included two or more blasts. The tests in the atmosphere are the first by the United States since Oct. 30, 1958, just before the voluntary moratorium went into effect.

Driver's Car Clips One Driven By Wife

William Camp, 24, of 136½ S. Vine St., Columbiana, was arrested by the Ohio Highway Patrol for reckless operation after his car collided with one driven by his wife, Marilyn, 21, at the junction of Rt. 14 and County Road 440, about one mile east of Columbiana at 11:10 Friday night.

The patrol said Camp was attempting to pass his wife, but cut in too sharply and clipped the left front of her auto.

Dover Girl Wins Canton Spelldown

Dover Junior High School saw one champion fall by the wayside, but quickly moved another into her place to retain the title in the 16th annual regional spelling bee Friday night at Canton.

Karen Sherwood, a 13-year-old eighth-grader who was attempting to repeat her 1961 victory, was eliminated in the first round of the spelldown last night, but her classmate, Pam Lieser, finally emerged victorious in the 2½-hour word battle at Timken Vocational High School.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl N. Lieser, Pam not only achieved a personal victory but retained the honor for her school, the third time its students have won the crown in the 16 years the bee has been sponsored by the Canton Repository.

By outspelling 37 other champions from Columbiana, Carroll, Holmes, Stark and Tuscarawas counties, Pam earned the right to represent the region in the national finals June 4-8 in Washington and received a host of prizes, including a 24-volume set of the Encyclopedia Britannica, a portable typewriter and a solid gold medal.

By her victory, her school also retains the Dennis R. Smith Memorial Trophy for another year and will continue to receive a year's supply of Encyclopedia Britannica films.

Pam's victory came on the 367th word when Andy Miller of Alliance substituted an "o" for the first "u" in "garrulous". Pam spelled it correctly and then ended the bee with "linguistic".

Although shocked by her sudden ouster in the first round on "detach", Miss Sherwood was among the first to rush on stage and congratulate Pam.

As runnerup Miller, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Miller, also was presented with a portable typewriter. Jeannine Fisher of Strasburg, who finished in third place when she missed "illumine", received a two-volume set of the Britannica World Language Dictionary.

Another Miller — this one Raymond A., an eighth grader at Lexington School in Stark County — wound up fourth. After spelling much more difficult words, the pressure got Raymond who used an "ie" instead of "ea" in "be-reaved".

Tuscarawas County not only claimed the champion, but also Miss Fisher and the fifth-place winner, Mary Oldt of Newcomerstown, who was eliminated on "repugnant".

Kathleen Curl of Columbiana finished as the best of Columbiana County's five entrants, ranking ninth. "Nemesis" was just that for Kathy in the 16th round.

Martha Williams, an eighth-grader at East Liverpool Westgate, finished 11th, spelling "parity" with an "e" instead of an "a".

Donna Sargent of Fairfield was eliminated in the sixth round on "frappe", while Malcolm Ogilvie, East Liverpool Taft sixth-grader, bowed out in the fifth round when

Pupils Strike In School Dispute

Protest Suspension, Firing of Teachers

NEW BALTIMORE, Mich. (AP)—A weekend cease-fire was in effect today at Anchor Bay High School, where most of the 361 students took part Friday in a strike demonstration over the firing of the principal and the suspension of seven teachers.

The students rallied to the cause after Principal Rudy Kamischke was dismissed and the teachers were suspended for a week without pay.

They had drawn the wrath of the seven-member board for wearing black arm bands of mourning for the election defeat of a proposal that would have given them the protection of tenure in their jobs.

Superintendent William Nuse later said Kamischke was fired in part because "he belived in educating those children having the greatest ability and did not want to spend any time with the others."

Kamischke said he had received a letter saying his contract would not be renewed because of "insubordination, instability and incompatibility."

Later, he and five of the suspended teachers announced they would seek a court injunction Monday to restore their jobs pending a hearing.

The student demonstration was orderly. Students paraded in front of the school, bearing signs protesting the disciplinary actions while police and some parents stood by.

Classes later resumed with an

JFK, Macmillan Air World Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan conferred at the White House today on wide-ranging cold war issues including nuclear testing and Western efforts to work out a Berlin settlement with Russia.

Diplomats said the weekend little summit meeting between the two men may produce a new Western call for an enforceable test ban treaty with Russia plus a promise to halt U.S. testing in the Pacific the moment Russia signs such a pact.

Kennedy was expected to tell Macmillan that Secretary of State Dean Rusk is making slow but steady progress in his probing with Russia of the possibilities of an East-West Berlin agreement.

Rusk considers the prospects for success completely uncertain but slightly hopeful.

Rusk met for 90 minutes Friday with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. They agreed to say nothing afterward about the details of their discussion. The State Department would say only "they discussed Germany and Berlin," and covered a wide range of subjects related to those topics.

The tone of the talk was described by U.S. officials variously as correct, businesslike, friendly and relaxed. Aides said that Rusk did not make any new proposals on terms for a Berlin settlement.

Macmillan arrived here in late afternoon from New York. Kennedy, who had just flown in from Florida where he had vacationed for 10 days, met the prime minister at Andrews Air Force Base for a ceremony with full military honors, including a 19-gun salute.

Friday night Kennedy and Macmillan topped the guest list at a banquet of White House correspondents and photographers.

The two men arranged to meet through Saturday evening—from a mid-morning talk at the White House through a dinner at the British embassy Saturday night.

The conference will end late Sunday afternoon and Macmillan will fly to Canada. Diplomats expect the two leaders to issue a statement stressing U.S. willingness to halt nuclear tests in the Pacific any time the Soviet government will sign a reliable nuclear test ban treaty.

The United States fired off a second nuclear device at dawn Friday over Christmas Island. The first atmospheric blast in the series was set off Wednesday.

In their talks Kennedy and

Carbon Spewed From Train Sets Blazes

10 Departments Fight Flames From Waterford to Salem

Hot carbon spewing from a Pennsylvania diesel engine Friday afternoon was blamed for a series of fires that raked over an estimated 200 acres in Fairfield and Salem Townships, destroying a house burning thousands of Christmas trees, and endangering fuel storage tanks.

The powder-dry grass burned with terrific speed and required some 200 firemen from 10 departments to bring it under control following a three-hour battle.

Damages amounted to thousands of dollars.

The series of fires started in the New Waterford district and traveled in a northwesterly direction toward Salem.

Started In Fairfield Twp.

The Fairfield Township blaze broke out first shortly after 2 p.m. in the New Waterford Cemetery area on the East Palestine-New Waterford Road. Winds fanned the flames which devoured grass, trees and nursery stock to the eastern limits of Columbiana.

Columbiana Fire Chief Marcus Hum estimated 100 acres was blackened in this area.

Firemen fought furiously to contain the blaze before it could reach the Corey Oil Co. along Route 14 where hundreds of gallons of oil and gas are stored. A few used cars in the nearby junk yard were singed, but no serious damage resulted.

The fire burned along a 12-mile stretch of the railroad's main line, destroying the old, two-story log house of Mrs. R. C. Kidd of Beverly Drive, Columbiana. The house, a landmark in the area, was owned by Albert Thoman.

Released From Hospital

Mrs. Kidd, while being led from the house by firemen as the logs went up in flames, collapsed and was believed to have suffered a heart attack. However, the Salem Central Clinic, where she was examined, reported her in good condition and released her at 4:20 p.m.

Five thousand market-size Christmas trees were destroyed at the farm of Ray Hum, and 675 others were burned at two other nearby locations. Stock at Wilm's Nursery near Columbiana was reported damaged.

The Columbiana fire department was called out at 2:05 p.m. Ten minutes later the alarm was sounded in Leetonia after more hot carbon apparently from the same locomotive started a blaze west of Leetonia along the tracks.

The fire raged in the Franklin Square and Perry Grange Hall areas, burning chiefly swamp grass and trees. One house was endangered until firemen quelled the flames.

Nine Departments Out

In the Fairfield township area nine departments answered the call including Columbiana, East Palestine, Washingtonville, New Springfield, Petersburg, Negley, New Waterford.

The eastern-most point of the fire was on the southeastern edge of Salem on the Franklin Rd. in Perry Twp. Although no buildings were reported damaged in Perry Twp., the fire did destroy several trees and fence posts on property

100 Negroes Waiting To Make Trip

'Freedom Bus' Rides Scheduled on Big Scale

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—One-way "Freedom Bus" rides to the North and West for dissatisfied Negroes will resume on a mass scale Monday, a director of the sponsoring New Orleans Citizens Council said Friday night.

"We're ready to send as many as want to go," said the director, George Singelmann.

Singelmann said Trailways officials had promised to make available as many buses as necessary shortly after noon Monday. He said he had deposited $1,409 for each of two or three buses expected to go.

He said he wouldn't know just how many would leave until they showed up at the bus terminal. He insisted that more than 100 Louisiana Negroes were waiting to make the journey.

Two Negroes left for New York City Friday night. They were Shelby Williams, about 27, and his wife, Singelmann said the Williams couple didn't want to wait until Monday because their rent in New Orleans was to run out tonight.

Singelmann said those who requested to leave by bus Monday included a couple and their 10 children who were going to Los Angeles; a woman with three children to Oakland, and dozens of others for Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Chicago.

Singelmann said he had also

3 Children Die as Man Sets Home Fire

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A 38-year-old engineer, James Vincent Miller, admitted to police Friday he set fire to his own home, burning three of his five children to death.

His wife and the two other children escaped. They were treated for shock and injuries.

Robert Timlin, fire department inspector, said Miller admitted pouring two gallons of gasoline and several gallons of paint thinner and oil inside the house as his family slept.

The fuel was ignited in a basement hallway and the well of a stairway, where flames would block escape.

"I don't believe Miller has told his real motive," said police Capt. J. V. Fineran. "Miller said he was overworked. He said his wife had been complaining continuously about his being out of town and away from home, and he couldn't take it any more."

Timlin said Miller admitted to officers that he had a girl friend. He was held without charge.

Faith Power Changes Things

Dr. Peale

A successful man told of his remarkable experience of faith power when he was a small boy. He was born with a withered leg and from infancy wore a brace. He could not run with other boys or climb trees with them. So he developed a deep inferiority complex. He felt he was different. He was handicapped. He became gloomy and fearful about himself and his future: If he couldn't climb trees with the boys how could he ever climb the ladder of life?

But his French-Canadian father said to him, "Son, don't worry about your leg." And he told the boy that in the cathedral there was a big pile of crutches and braces left there by people who had gone to the cathedral with maladies and disabilities and had been healed. He said, "Some day I am going to take you into the cathedral and at the great altar God will heal you."

THE GREAT DAY CAME. Dressed in their Sunday best, father and son entered the cathedral.

edral, a glorious place with sunlight streaming through high stained-glass windows. Soft organ music reverberated through the aisles and arches. Down the long center aisle they walked, hand in hand, the boy looking about wonderingly the brace on his little withered leg thumping at each step.

As they knelt at the altar the father said, "Now, son, pray and ask God to heal you."

With bowed heads they prayed. When they raised their eyes again, the boy caught sight of his father's face—and what he saw there made an impression he never forgot. "I had seen my father's face under many circumstances," he said, "and I had often seen it full of love. But never had I seen it so beautiful as at that moment. There were tears in his eyes, and shining through was the joyous, exalted faith of the true believer. It was a wonderful sight."

"God has healed you, my son," declared the father brokenly.

PROFOUNDLY STIRRED, the boy stood up. But when he looked down, there was his withered leg—the same as before. They started back down the aisle, the old brace thumping along as usual. The boy was deeply disappointed.

Then as they approached the huge door of the cathedral something happened. "I felt something tremendously warm in my heart," he said. "I seemed to feel something like a great hand pass across my head. I can feel to this day the lightness and yet the power of that touch. Suddenly I was boundlessly happy. I cried, 'Father, you are right! I have been healed!'"

"Young as I was, I knew what had happened. God had not taken the brace off my leg, but He had taken the brace of fear and inferiority off my mind."

From then on, the withered leg had no power to dismay the boy or inhibit his development. He lived and grew in faith and confidence and went forward into a splendid career.

WE HEAR OF an experience like this and we think, "How wonderful!" But what about us? Ask yourself if you have been wearing on your mind a brace of nervousness or tension? Or of fear, hate or prejudice? Through the healthy thought pattern of faith you can be freed of that brace which hampers and frustrates you.

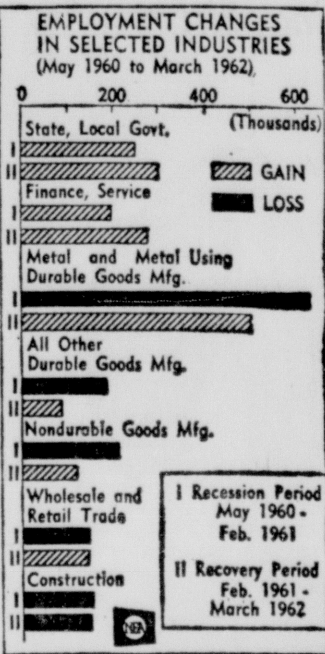

But people ask what good is it to know this if you just do not have faith of that sort. The answer is to develop such faith.

We develop faith in the same way we gain proficiency of any kind—by practice, and here are some ways of practice which I recommend: Spend no less than 15 minutes each day reading the Bible. This will saturate your mind with faith thoughts. Select texts that speak of faith. Then memorize them and repeat them to yourself at intervals every day, until your mind absorbs them.

PRAY OFTEN, not negative prayers, but positive affirmations. Regularly attend church. This will expose you to the powerful faith atmosphere of a house of worship. And when you are faced with a specific problem, think about it, talk about it, pray about it. There is power in that three-point formula.

Think, talk and live as though you had faith and at length you will have it. Perseverance in such practice takes effort of course. But keep at it for no effort pays greater dividends. Faith power actually does change things. Through real faith you can overcome any difficulty in life.

"This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith," says the Bible and what a truth that is!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

How Important is an Inch

Not long ago Genevieve was thirty-seven inches tall. Soon she'll be thirty-eight. Just how important is that next inch?

It's all-important! Without that inch her growth will cease.

Folks sometimes underestimate the importance of a Sunday in Church or Sunday School. What difference, they think, can just one Sunday make?

But every day of worship or religious instruction adds its inch to our spiritual growth. And whenever we neglect the soul's needs, then, temporarily at least, growth ceases.

Children, and adults, too, need to keep on growing spiritually. How different our world could be if all of us reached the spiritual maturity God wants men to attain. A Sunday, like an inch, is important. Next Sunday is all-important for all of us!

Good And Sufficient Reasons

The United States is testing its nuclear weapons again.

The difference between most of us and the earnest people who protest resumption of nuclear bomb testing by their government is our determination to stand our ground.

We have no stomach for being pushed around by anyone — the government of Russia, the government of France, the Republic Chinese, if they finally learn to set off atomic explosions, or anyone else.

The United States intends not only to keep its powder dry, in the spirit of its ancestors, but to practice its aim and make sure the gun is firing properly. If this offends its critic abroad and its critics at home, so be it. They are only a handful at most, and their thinking is neither realistic nor consistent.

They cannot dissociate themselves physically from the world they live in even if they seem to be seeking a state of mental blindness to its realities.

THERE ARE good and sufficient reasons for the United States to resume nuclear testing. About that there can be no argument.

Whether mankind should be monkeying with rehearsals for nuclear warfare is another issue. It shouldn't be; but it is. And as long as any part of mankind is trying to develop capability to destroy any other park of mankind, those of us who feel responsible for collective security must keep abreast of the potential aggressor's progress.

This is realistic peacemaking. It is a war game played to keep war itself from happening — in the same way that immunization protects men from disease by exposing them to the disease.

It is the same technique that has saved and sometimes lost the peace in other generations. Weapons always have been tested at intervals. Old weapons have been fired to certify their dependability and new ones have been fired to discover their capabilities.

NATIONS have staged war games to impress potential opponents with their strength and to bolster the confidence of their wavering allies. Pacifists have wrung their hands over these demonstrations of belligerence. They have accused militarists of being sword-rattlers and politicians of being the foolish pawns of sword-rattlers. Sometimes they were.

The United States is testing nuclear weapons at Christmas Island in the Pacific. It is testing rockets at Cape Canaveral. It is rehearsing harder for a war it hopes will never come than it ever rehearsed before.

And by this token there is less change of war now than there ever has been before. No madman or no potential madman can say this time that the United States invited attack by dropping its guard.

Nothing to Get Angry About

No one can expect fairness and mildness to be stronger than prejudice and anger in racial issues.

But before prejudice and anger explode out of control in the latest move by southern white supremacists to embarrass northern critics, their scheme to hasten emigration to northern states of southern Negroes who want to leave should be viewed objectively.

It is not a new idea. It would be an adaptation of an idea that already has caused thousands of southern Negroes to leave home at their own expense to find better lives in nonsegregation states.

It would not have a major impact. White supremacists would not underwrite a program on a scale to be of any importance relative to the size of the massive migration still taking place.

It would have a strong appeal, on the other hand, to southern Negroes who want to leave home to seek better lives elsewhere. Many would jump at a chance to start over if they could afford to make the move to the North.

This would be a psychological boomerang against white supremacists.

They would stand accused of giving the Deep South a kick in the teeth by showing the extent of discontent among its Negro citizens.

They might even stand accused of sending away one of the prime reasons their business boomers have been giving northern industrialists for moving factories to southern states — a bountiful supply of low-cost labor.

And surely they would stand accused by some southerners of suggesting a comparison between emigration from East Germany and the motives of their own negroes for wanting to get away from what always has been referred to by southerners as a magnolia-scented paradise.

If things like these are borne in mind, at the expense of not flaring up in anger, the Reverse Freedom Rides that have come into the news will lose their zip before anyone has had time to run a temperature about them.

Machines Meet Their Match

We plodding humans struggling to adjust to the inevitable advance of machines into our daily lives owe a debt of gratitude to a British librarian for offering us springtime hope that at least a part of our realm of activity will remain unviolated.

His name is Cyril Cleverdon and he made his pitch for the supremacy of mind over machine at a conference at Western Reserve University on something called "Information Retrieval in Action."

The subject apparently deals with the use of computers to dig out data. Mr. Cleverdon, bless him, said machines can go only so far. From there on, the electronic brain cannot match the human brain.

There are two reasons for this, the Briton said. First, the machines cannot read and therefore cannot relate the data they dig out to the questions that must be answered.

Second and partly because of this fault, the machines are, by his estimate, 59 to 100 times slower than human beings using the old-fashioned library catalog card file.

Not only is this true now, Mr. Cleverdon continued, but he doubts the machines will get much better, another hopeful thought for romanticists. He predicted computers will reach their peak performance when they can pull 4 useful documents out of 10 being search for information. As the final topping on the discourse he served up, Mr. Cleverdon declared:

"The solution lies in better methods of indexing (a human decision), not in bigger machines."

We must confess a suspicion that the activity about which Mr. Cleverdon was talking is not one that directly affects very many of us. But any blow struck for the dignity of the human spirit merits praise from us all.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

For first time in 300-year history Yale may put the question "Sex?" on application blanks.

Since colonial days it had been duty of Yale cops to swing into action at sound of a female voice anywhere near campus. Scandals and suspicions could follow discovery of lipstick on student laundry. In recent years there have been women in graduate schools and it's a long time since female around the premises upset seismograph.

Nevertheless possible entrance of gals as full time students is sensational. Will the famed last lines of "Bright College Years" be switched to "For Dior, for Givenchy and for Yale?"

In time mother may be known as an Old Yale Blue and your sister on record as the spirit behind the football victory and the clean sweep in Thames River boat race.

Ultimately we may see dormitories named after wealthy Yale women. More and more women are becoming business tycoons and time could bring Yale the "Genevieve Beemish Towers" and "Arabella Vendergriff Hall."

Not to mention the "Susie Smathers Gymnasium," the "Twedy Sisters Hockey Rink" and the "Dorothy (Snookums) Foundation for Home Cooking" in Yale Dining Hall. Somewhere woven into Temple, High, College, York, and Hillhouse avenues at New Haven there may be a Maiden Lane and a Petticut st. With change of "Boola Boola" to "Beulah, Beulah."

ARMY DENIES big league ball players will be returned to ball parks in couple of weeks. If players really want to get back on diamonds, why don't they make some speeches not approved by government?

Grover Whalen was Mr. Manhattan, Prime Minister Gladhand, Secretary of Cordiality and Controller of Ticker Tape for New York. No other man was so active in so many fields for so many years with so much success. He began away back under Mayor "Red Mike" Hylan, welcoming the Prince of Wales, then a youngster, chiefly famed for falls off steeplechairs.

Queen Marie of Romania, Gertrude Ederle, General Pershing, Bobby Jones, Amelia Earhart, "Wrongway" Corrigan, and countless kings, premiers and diplomats had red mat rolled by Grover.

Although not nationally famed, John Day Jackson, whose estate probated the other day was recorded as $61 million, was one of the ablest and most successful publishers in America. A few years out of college, he bought for peanut-money a fast fading newspaper and, against a field of four competitors, built it up so rapidly that inside of two decades all rival sheets had folded up or been absorbed by him.

The city is New Haven, Conn., where his paper "The Register," one of the oldest in the nation, has for years been one of the biggest money makers in U.S. newspaper world. He was one of Vanishing Americans who thought thrift, careful bookkeeping, economy, efficiency and nose-to-the-grindstone important.

It was this writer's good fortune to have begun his newspaper life as a cub reporter under Jackson and to have been his managing editor, at age of 23, at the peak of competition in a five-newspaper city.

We thought him a hard taskmaster but came to realize that we owed a lot to his training. He was extra careful about expenses and we recall the day when Clare Thompson had bought two cane-seated chairs for the editorial room at a cost of $3 each. Mr. Jackson questioned the extravagance and asked why they had been bought. "The seats were worn out," said Thompson. "They wouldn't have been if your reporters didn't sit in them so much," was the reply.

The Galley Slaves Are Grumbling, Sir!

Inside the Communist Mind

By Dr. GEORGE S. BENSON

Despite the flexibility of their "line" and their frequent inconsistencies and contradictions, Communists of all generations have held only a few basic concepts.

This view is presented by Dr. James D. Bales in his new book, Communism: Its Faith and Fallacies (Grand Rapids 6, Michigan: Baker Book House).

Dr. Bales, who is professor of Christian doctrine at Harding College, has put extensive research and many years of close study and observation into this roundup of Communist philosophy.

He has demonstrated most concretely why it is that Americans must study this subject, and his book at the same time offers us the materials and the guidance for such a study.

liquidated. It does not mean that the Communists cease their aggression."

THROUGHOUT THE non-Communist world, persons hearing this kind of talk think the Communists are renouncing their plans for world conquest. Dr. Bales goes on to say. Sometimes it does seem that we could not have misunderstood the Communists more if we had set out deliberately to do so.

Yet, more often than not, whatever they say, the propaganda victory is theirs. But this is only the temporary victory of the amoral, the Godless, the destroyers.

There may yet be time to understand them before they gobble up the rest of the world into darkness and slavery, while free nations like America stand by as if presiding over rites of destruction.

If we do understand soon enough, we are more likely to gain understanding from reading books like this than from hearing United Nations oratory.

In my opinion we are behind with this kind of reading. The near-tragic mistakes we have made in foreign relations since the end of World War II testify that we have seriously misjudged the Communists again and again.

Scranton of Scranton

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

The closest thing to a Jack Kennedy in the Republican party is an appealing young — well, youngish — Pennsylvania politician named Bill Scranton, who has a good eye for the main chance.

"You're one of the Republicans who beat me," President Kennedy remarked to Congressman Scranton when they met one day in the White House last year.

William Warren Scranton, of Scranton, Pa., did indeed beat candidate Kennedy in the 1960 presidential election. Republican Scranton won in the 10th District of Pennsylvania by 18,000 votes and Democrat Kennedy won by 17,000. In depression-mired Lackawanna County, which encloses the City of Scranton, Kennedy built up a 31,000 margin. Scranton, who was up against a 2-1 Democratic registration edge, took the county by 1,000 votes.

Tha's no bad, no bad at all. Scranton was a first time candidate whose family name is a symbol for the Republican party in a state that was owned lock, stock and barrel by the financial and industrial end of that party from the Civil War to the New Deal. And he was running in an area of chronic depression.

"One of the minor miracles of 1960," Scranton dryly remarks about his election to Congress two years ago.

THE MINOR miracle of 1960 was followed by the miracle of 1962, when Scranton was picked by the Republican party as the candidate for governor next fall. Of all the Republicans now fighting for the small sliver of the national spotlight not absorbed by the Kennedys, Scranton may turn out the most promising.

If he wins in November, he will at once find himself on the pinnacle of Republican politics, along with Rockefeller of New York, Nixon of California and Romney of Michigan — if they also win.

As the Republican candidate for governor, Scranton has some gilded assets. The Democrats have dominated Pennsylvania since 1954, when they took the governorship for the first time in 20 years.

The "Young Reformers" in the Democratic party's Philadelphia division are now getting old. One of them, former Mayor Richardson Dilworth, is Scranton's competition for governor.

Dilworth and Scranton are both political charmers, but at 63, Dilworth is 19 years older than Scranton and suffers a potentially serious disability in his tooth-and-claw relationship with the poker-faced Philadelphia Democratic boss, Rep. William Green. Green tried hard to block Dilworth's nomination.

Green is now telling friends that since "the boss wants Dilworth" (the boss being President Kennedy), he'll do what he can to elect him. But Dilworth's vote will vary in direct proportion to Green's inclination to do his best.

REGARDLESS of what Green does, Scranton will be running against the "bosses" — the powerful old bosses of his own party, who couldn't come close to stopping his nomination and the still very powerful Democratic bosses, of whom Green and Gov. David L. Lawrence are the symbols and Dilworth perhaps an unwilling legate.

Anti-bossism is an attractive campaign issue these days, as Carmine DeSapio discovered in New York and Scranton has it all to himself in Pennsylvania.

Beyond that, however, Scranton is well endowed with those curious glamor assets that are revolutionizing national politics in the '60s. He's loaded with money, personality, children and family political background. He looks good on television and can handle a political debate with grace and humor. Kennedy took over his party in Massachusetts after a bloody duel with the old Democratic powers, men like Rep. John McCormack. Scranton has practically been handed his party in Pennsylvania, with a rather powerful assist from Sen. Hugh Scott, who has been trying to nurse his party into the 20th century for a good many years now.

If he wins in 1962, the Republicans will be hearing a lot about Scranton of Scranton, Pa., in 1964.

Matter of Fact

Before anybody ever heard of germs, people ad some funny ideas about disease. They knew illnesses could be "caught" but they weren't sure how. In southern Germany a sick person would write on a piece of paper, "Fever, stay away, I'm not at home." Then he slipped the paper in somebody else's pocket—which, according to superstition, gave the fever to that person. Meanwhile the ungenerous "giver" was cured.

So They Say

What do you get out of those countries, anyway? A couple of camels? What would I do with a couple of camels?—Eddie Cantor, blacklisted by the Army world for his sympathies with Israel.

Kennedy Program

By PETER EDSON

25 Measures Simmer In Congress

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—Congress now has the complete Kennedy block-busting program for this year. It was sent to Capitol Hill in State of the Union, Budget and Economic messages, plus 15 special messages covering one broad subject.

There have also been a number of letters from the President to Congress asking urgent action on some specific legislative proposal. There may be more of these letters in the remaining months of the session on emergency measures.

But Congress now has its work laid out on agriculture, consumer protection, civil defense, communications satellites, conservation and recreation, education, federal pay scales, foreign aid, manpower training and employment security, public welfare and rehabilitation, public works, tax trade expansion, transportation policy and U.N. bonds.

As House Speaker John McCormack observed, Congress could stay in town till Labor Day if it tried to handle all this, but there is pressure for an early July adjournment so congressmen can spend more time campaigning for re-election. Some time between the two dates Congress will call it quits, regardless of how much does or doesn't get done.

THE CONSERVATIVE opposition believes that many of the liberal Kennedy programs can be killed outright, as was done with the reorganization plan to set up a Department of Urban Affairs. An alternative is just to cut the hearts out of administration programs by amendment or compromise, as is being attempted with the U.N. bond purchase proposal.

In spite of these tactics, there are indications that the accomplishments of the 87th Congress may be sizeable, even though the record of the first three months is not sensational. Only 27 new bills have been signed into law this year.

FIVE OF THEM relate to District of Columbia affairs, for which Congress acts as Washington.

ington city council. Nineteen are routine government administration and housekeeping bills.

Three are of major importance: The manpower training act, welfare and pension plan disclosure amendments and temporary increase of the national debt limit to $300 billion.

Before Congress now in various stages of consideration are some 22 other measures of first importance on which the record of this session will be made or broken.

If the Kennedy administration gets most of this program enacted, Democratic candidates for Congress can go to the voters this fall with a boast of, "Look what we done fur yuh. Send us back we'll do more." If Congress rejects most of this program, the Democratic pitch will change to, "You gotta elect more Democrats so we can get action on these things."

THE REPUBLICANS so far have no comparable, positive program to offer the voters, though one is in the making under the direction of Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, a member of the last three GOP National Convention Platform Committees.

So far, the Republican campaign song takes the tune of "trying to stop all this reckless spending that is ruining the country." There is another sales talk that the Kennedy administration is being run by Americans for Democratic Action, but how much appeal this may have to voters is questionable.

Appropriations and tax bills for the next fiscal year aren't yet far enough along to give any idea of whether there will be a $400 to $500 million budget surplus for 1963, as the Kennedy administration predicts, or a $4 to $5 billion deficit, as the Joint Congressional Committee on Taxation is forecasting.

A big deficit might be more of a help for the Republicans to point at with horror than for the Democrats to view with pride as proof of how busy they've been this year.

Pre-College Training

By TERRY FERRER

How soon do today's youngsters begin to prepare for college—senior high school or junior high school? Not at all. In the elementary grades, even in the first grade.

If this seems like an appalling thought, some of the educators are greeting the new trend with considerable enthusiasm. Dr. Otto F. Kraushaar, president of Goucher College, calls the elementary school a "vital part" of college preparation.

"In the past," he says, "the college either snubbed elementary education or approached it in the spirit of offering a technical assistance program for an underdeveloped area."

"But," Dr. Kraushaar continues, "the curricular reforms now in process unite in regarding the early years as vital for well-grounded college preparation. Educational criticism has long taken the familiar form of passing the buck; the college blamed its failures on the secondary school, which in turn passed the stigma to the elementary school."

Such buck-passing can now disappear as schoolmen increasingly get together and plan programs to run from the first grade right through the 12th grade. Languages, science and mathematics, which once were thought to belong only in the high school, are moving down into elementary grades.

The new pattern of elementary education emerges in a new softcover volume published by the College Entrance Examination Board. It is entitled "The Changing College Preparatory Curriculum" and was written by a dozen educators from schools and colleges, including Dr. Kraushaar.

Hailing the "vogue" of 12 years of course planning, Dr. Laurence D. Haskew, vice chancellor of the University of Texas, also noted the new rigor and student drive that characterizes the schools from bottom to top grades.

Dr. Haskew declares that "elementary school pupils are attending college lectures" and that "research projects of precollege character are standard dosage for academically talented students." Most of the televised instruction now being given is "strongly reminiscent of the collegiate syllabus and the collegiate classroom."

"Perhaps the acme was reached the other day," he continues. "when a school system announced that its fourth-grade course of study had substituted a unit on the American college for its traditional standby, the American Indian."

Indeed, in the 40-year-old gifted-child program in Cleveland, first graders are taught how to organize simple research and make and use an outline.

An unusually high proportion of these Cleveland gifted children go on to college. A study made in 1960 of graduates of the Major Work Classes showed that 90 per cent of the men and 63 per cent of the women went on to college.

In foreign languages, the elementary schools have sharply increased early training in the hearing-speakin' method.

In 1955, some 271,000 children in grades one to six were learning a foreign language in 2,000 schools located in 44 states. By 1959, the numbers had more than doubled, almost 650,000 pupils in almost 4,000 schools in all 50 states.

Among New York City schools, which now offer 12 straight years of a language, are the Collegiate School for boys and the Spence School for girls. The Collegiate School, has a sequence of French that runs right through from ages 5 or 6 to 18.

Mullins Co. Forms Georgia Subsidiary

East Point Industries Corp. of East Point, Ga., has been formed as a joint venture of Mullins Manufacturing Corporation, makers of Youngstown Kitchens and a factor in the industrial contract stamping business, and the Del-Mar Industries, Inc. of Atlanta, Ga.

At East Point, a suburb of Atlanta, EPIC will produce wood kitchen cabinets, vanities and related items for exclusive marketing by Mullins' Youngstown Kitchens Division.

Declining to reveal the size of Mullins' investment in the new enterprise, President Robert Potter did however allow that it was "a substantial ownership." He said that EPIC is the first of a series of new production facilities to be put into operation to strengthen Youngstown Kitchens' new marketing approaches which stress service for its growing list of customers in its diversified product lines.

Potter will head the new corporation, with Harry F. Howell as Vice President of Sales and Harry Krohn as secretary-treasurer. All three are officers of Mullins. Jerome Zimmerman, president of Del-Mar, will be Executive Vice President of EPIC. The management of Del-Mar Industries has been engaged in the wood cabinet and lumber industry for many years.

The EPIC plan will be ready for initial production early in June.

he started "acceptance" with an "ex".

Melody Lutton of East Junior High in East Liverpool was unfortunate in the second round when she didn't know when to quit on "deficit". Melody had the word spelled correctly, paused for several seconds and then added an "e".

Jim Roberts, an announcer at station WHBC in Canton, served as the pronouncer. The judges were Mrs. John Saffell of the department of English at Mt. Union College; Dr. David Moldstad, assistant professor of English at the College of Wooster, and William D. Taylor Jr., chairman of the school of journalism at Kent State University.

Each of the contestants was presented with a portfolio.

The bee director, Frank J. Laston, public service director of the Repository, presided. Greetings were extended by John G. Green, editor of the Repository.

The spellers, their parents and school and bee officials were guests at the dinner preceding the speldown.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York said the motives in the Freedom Bus program were beneath and beyond contempt. Nevertheless, said Wagner, temporary emergency relief would be made available "to these refugees from oppression and discrimination within our own land."

In Philadelphia, Thomas Burress, executive director of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said, "These people will come here assuming there's gold in the streets, when actually job conditions, along with housing conditions, are almost as bad, if not as bad, as they are in New Orleans."

Columbiana and area firemen fought a blaze similar to this three years ago when 4000 Christmas trees were burned. This, too, was blamed on hot carbon from a locomotive.

At 6:30 p.m. Friday night the East Palestine firemen were called out again to extinguish a brush fire between Route 14 and Metz Rd., halfway between Columbiana and East Palestine. And at Leetonia the major fire alarm had no sooner sounded than a grass fire broke out on Quincy Ave.

Quakers Dump Mooney, Beaver Local In Triangular Meet

Locals Cop First In 8 of 14 Events

Beavers Game But Finish Last; Edling, Enders Are Double Winners

By LYNN BROWNE News Sports Editor

Apparently invigorated by Friday's warm sunshine, Coach Karl Zellers' tracksters, who have done most of their running on a soft track this year, added a triangular meet win to their list of four dual victories.

Salem's thinclads had little trouble outpointing visiting Youngstown Cardinal Mooney and a game group of Beaver Local Beavers ending the meet with 75 points. Cardinal Mooney wound up the evening with 39½ points - just six ahead of Beaver Local's 33½.

Salem captured eight of the 14 events with Cardinal Mooney taking three and tying Beaver Local for another. The Beavers took the other two firsts.

CAPTAIN DAVE EDLING and senior Ty Enders each captured two firsts for the Quakers.

The speedy Edling turned in his best time of the season in the 100-yard dash as he broke the ribbon in 10.6 seconds - two seconds ahead of second place winner John Detchon, a junior from Beaver Local.

In the broad jump, the versatile senior's 19-5 was the furthest any Quaker has jumped this season. Dave Capel took second place and Bill Beery placed third as Salem dominated the event.

Enders, a letterman on last year's team, hurled the discus 132-10, well ahead of runner-up Dick Toriello's 127-4, but somewhat behind his season high of 137 feet, recorded against Wellsville. He is unbeaten in the event so far this year.

IN THE SHOT PUT, Enders nudged teammate Fred Kaiser by just three and a half inches, registering a heave of 44-7. His season high in the event is 46-3½, also set against Wellsville's Bengals.

Edling was the big point-getter of the afternoon for the Quakers as he placed second in the 220-yard dash, in addition to his two firsts. The meet was scored on a 5-3-2-1 basis with only the first two places counting in the relays.

Beery was second high in the point department as he placed first in the high jump and anchored the mile relay squad in its first place performance.

A SCORER'S NIGHTMARE developed in the high jumps. Beery copped first with a jump of 5-7 with Salem's Bill Carter and Beaver Local's Larry McLaughlin tying for second with jumps of 5-2. Larry Carroll of Beaver Local and John Carney of Mooney also jumped 5-2 but had to be satisfied with a tie for fourth, having had more misses than Carter and McLaughlin.

Beery teamed with Jim Ward, Dave Taus and Tad Bonsall in the mile relay as they ran away with the win in 3:40.8. Beaver Local was second.

Beery had his worst time of the season in the 440 dash as he got off to a slow start and came in third, a step behind Beaver Local's John Detchon and Mooney's Rich Hughes who tied for first at 53.3 seconds. Beery had been undefeated in the event going in to the meet.

SALEM'S GARY HASSON and Ken Krause sewed up the 880 run. Hasson placed first with a time of 2:09.3 followed closely by Krause.

Rich Tarleton, unbeaten in the mile run, knocked two and nine-tenths seconds off his best season time as he sprinted the four laps in 4:51.9 to gain another first for the Quakers.

The locals had to be satisfied with a third and a fourth in the hurdle events. Beaver Local's Pete Wilkinson never lost a stride, despite knocking down the last hurdle, as he tied teammate Warren Bradley in the high hurdles, turning in a time of 17.4.

JERRY DENICHOLAS of Mooney took the low hurdles as he flew over the barriers in 22.4 seconds, one tenth of a second faster than the Beavers' Ed Shingletton.

Cardinal Mooney nipped the locals in the half-mile relay, turning in a time of 1:37. Mooney's John Miller took first in the 220 dash as he ran it in 24 seconds flat.

Salem's John Panzetti had a bad day at the pole vault pit. The capable senior managed only 9-6 for second place compared to his jump of 10-6 against Girard. Beaver Local's John Goforth won the event with a 10-foot vault.

Coach Zellers will send his charges into action again next Tuesday against Ravenna at Reilly Stadium.

But Troubled By Back Injury Campbell's 68 Takes Lead In Texas Open Golf Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Joe Campbell's big concern these days is coming into the 18th green leading a tournament and having to quit when his back locks up on him.

Campbell, the husky blond belter from Pendleton, Ind., put himself in position for such a catastrophe Friday when he fired a 3-under-par 68 to take over the lead in the $30,000 Texas Open.

Campbell, with 135 for 36 holes, is one stroke to the good over Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and favorite. Palmer put on another of his great finishes to snap back from near disaster on the first three holes. He banged five birdies the rest of the way to post a 69 for 136.

Campbell speaks freely of his back ailment. He has an extra bone growth and has been working all year to prevent an operation so he can continue on the golf tour. He is in traction every night.

"If the thing knots up it can keep me from even stooping over," he said. "I sure hope it can be straightened out without an operation because I want to stay on the tour."

Leaders at 36 holes:

Drysdale Scatters 10 Hits, Dodgers Blast Pirates 7-2

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Drysdale, tiger turned tamer, has junked a jinx and stands ready to assume the ace-of-the-staff post reserved for him by the patient Los Angeles Dodgers.

An angry young man who publicly stated his distaste for pitching in the Los Angeles Coliseum, Drysdale has found a haven in the new Dodger Stadium, where Friday night he posted his third victory in four starts by beating Pittsburgh 7-2.

The 25-year-old right-hander, never before a winner against the Pirates in Los Angeles, scattered 10 hits in posting his first victory over the National League leaders since July 3, 1960. He had made eight starts against the Pirates and had failed to complete a game.

At San Francisco, the Giants edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4, Milwaukee nipped Houston 2-1 behind Bob Shaw's four-hitter, St. Louis blasted Cincinnati 14-3 and Philadelphia handed the New York Mets their 11th setback in 12 games, 11-9.

Donovan's 5-Hitter Gives Indians 7-2 Win Over Twins

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Donovan, who's made more stops than a local bus, may have found himself a home with the Cleveland Indians.

The tall, veteran right-hander, one of four players the Indians acquired when they dealt fiery Jimmy Piersall to the Washington Senators, is one of the principal reasons the Indians are leading the American League.

He chalked up his fourth victory in an unbeaten season with a solid, six-hit 7-2 triumph over the Minnesota Twins Friday night that kept the Indians a game ahead of the pack.

In the others, all night games, Detroit punished Los Angeles 13-4, New York outlasted Washington 10-8, Chicago beat Boston 7-4 and Kansas City routed Baltimore 14-5.

Donovan, who worked with five minor league teams and has divided his time in the majors with the old Boston Braves, Detroit and the Chicago White Sox, now looms as the key figure in the Piersall trade.

The soft-spoken Donovan, who specializes in pin-point control and breaking stuff, had a four-hit shutout going into the ninth, but home runs by Harmon Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles spoiled his bid.

By that time, however, his new mates had staked him to a 7-0 lead and the 34-year-old veteran had plenty of working room. A two-run homer by Woody Held in the second inning was the big blow.

One of the season's better rhu-barbs and a $50 fine enlivened the Detroit-Los Angeles affair. It started when Joe Nuxhall hit Tiger Norm Cash in the back with a pitched ball. Plate umpire Ed Runge immediately walked to the mound and informed Nuxhall he was fined $50.

Nuxhall threw the ball into the first base stands. Second base umpire Ed Hurley thumbed him out. Angel Manager Bill Rigney began a wild protest. Out he went, too. And before it was over, Chuck Tanner, also of Los Angeles, got the gate.

Angel outfielders Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner later were subjected to a shower of beer cans and other rubbish from the stands when they took their defensive positions.

A seven-run second inning got the Tigers off and running. Billy Bruton, Al Kaline and Rocky Colavito each drove in three runs.

Sports In Brief

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI (AP) — Andy Schramm, a Deer Park High School senior, Friday night ran the mile in 4:19.7, fastest ever recorded for a high school miler in Ohio.

Achieved in the annual Lockland Relays, his mark does not constitute an official record. The state record of 4:24.1 was set by Mike Gallagher of Toledo Libbey in the 1961 state high school track meet at Columbus.

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A portrait of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's legendary football coach, was presented Friday night to Earl Schreiber, chairman of Canton's Professional Football Hall of Fame. It will hang in the shrine upon its completion in 1963.

Ed (Moose) Krause, director of athletics at Notre Dame, turned the picture over to Schreiber at a Notre Dame dinner here.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two Ohio high school football stars—Sam Fornasaglio of Steubenville Central Catholic and John DeFazio of Hamilton Catholic—have accepted grants-in-aid at Xavier University.

Fornasaglio, a 6-foot, 171-pound quarterback who completed 51 per cent of his passes last fall, was named to the 1961 All-Ohio team. The 5-9, 168-pound DeFazio was the leading ground gainer on an undefeated squad.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Tom Biedenhorn, who averaged 25.2 points a game last season for Cincinnati Elder, is the latest recruit to the University of Cincinnati basketball Bearcats. He stands 6-foot-8.

Another high school game star, Dean Lampros of Columbus East-moor, also signed a letter of intent to go to UC, home of the 1961-62 NCAA champions.

Angels Manager Rhubarbs With Umps, Fans, Writers

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Rigney's fury didn't abate until long after his Los Angeles Angels had been trounced and another Tiger Stadium rhubarb and missile barrage had ended.

In order, he took on the umpires, Detroit's unruly fans and sports writers Friday night. The fans and sports writers received a verbal barrage. Umpire Ed Hurley had his toes stepped on during a shoving match in the sixth inning after a hit-batsman incident ignited a wild scene.

Rigney and two of his players were ejected by Hurley and plate umpire Ed Runge.

It started when a ball thrown by pitcher Joe Nuxhall hit batting champion Norm Cash in the back while the Detroit Tigers were adding to their lead in a 13-4 victory.

Runge warned Nuxhall and fined him $50. The pitcher angrily threw the ball into the stands. Hurley ejected him. Rigney argued vehemently. Hurley ejected him. A fan stepped on the field and had to be restrained from tugging with Nuxhall. Chuck Tanner threw a towel from the Angel dugout. Runge ejected him.

In the outfield, Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner ran for cover. They were pelted from the stands by assorted missiles, mostly empty beer cans. When they returned to their positions they wore batting helmets for protection. It was similar to the bombardment of New York Yankee home run king Roger Maris two weeks ago.

In the clubhouse after the game, Rigney fumed.

"Those fans are terrible," he yelled. "Why can't the police do something about it? It's awful. It's dangerous."

"Were Thomas or Wagner hit with anything?" a sports writer asked.

"What do you mean by that?" bellowed the angered Angel manager. "What do you mean? What does it matter if they were hit or not? Somebody can get killed out there. It should be stopped."

In another room, Runge gave his side of the rhubarb that set off the wild display. He said:

"In my opinion, Nuxhall threw at Cash. I went out and fined him $50 in accordance with league rules. I turned my back and he threw the ball into the stands."

"Hurley saw it and threw him out. Rigney came out and deliberately stepped on Hurley's feet. And Hurley pushed him away and threw him out. I threw Tanner out because he threw a towel from the dugout."

Judicial Job Petitions Not Due Till Aug. 8

Aug. 8 at 4 p.m. will be the deadline for candidates to file for non-partisan ballot spots at the Nov. 6 general election in which three County Court judges will be elected, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, reminded prospective candidates today.

Under a new state law, two of the judges will be named for four-year terms and one will be elected for two years. Candidates must designate which tenure they are seeking when filing.

The incumbents are James L. MacDonald, whose court is at Lisbon; Herbert Arfman, whose court is in East Palestine and Luther Donbar, who presides at Salem.

They will run in the so-called County Court District, which includes all of Columbiana County outside East Liverpool and Liverpool Township. The city and the adjoining township comprise the East Liverpool Municipal Court jurisdiction.

The filing fee is $19.51, one half of one per cent of the annual salary of $3,907.

Unless a candidate is an incumbent, he must be an attorney in order to qualify, the law provides.

Meanwhile, O'Hanlon repeated an explanation of election law which he first issued last week, pointing out that an elector will have a right to vote at the May 8 primaries on special questions and issues only—if he desires without being required to declare his party affiliation.
